BCA Honors Vineland Steel Business for Safety and Hard Work

VINELAND - The Building Contractors Association (BCA) of South Jersey and Atlantic County held its 10th annual safety awards program May 19 at Mama Ventura's Restaurant, Route 73, Voorhees.

The program was implemented in 1996 to recognize and honor members of the BCA for their safety excellence.

Southern New Jersey Steel (SNJS), located in Vineland, was honored for its record of Safety Excellence in 2004. SNJS was also the only subcontractor honored in the Subcontractor category for more than 50,000 hours worked. Thomas Maccarone and Chuck Yula received the plaque on behalf of Southern New Jersey Steel at the awards dinner.

Southern New Jersey Steel Company is a structural and miscellaneous steel fabricator serving the construction industry in Southern New Jersey, Southeastern Pennsylvania, and Northern Delaware.

Southern Steel Fabricators of N.J. began fabricating steel in 1975. In 1992, Southern New Jersey Steel Co. was formed when key employees purchased the assets of the company.
